

Newly Released Bartule is the Next Generation in Bar Tools

Versatile, functional, yet elegant and fashionable, the new Bartule is an essential addition to any high scale home or restaurant bar. One instrument with eight functions, Bartule uniquely coalesces multiple bar tools into one handy device.

(PRWEB) April 16, 2009 -- The ultimate bar accessory, the new patent-pending Bartule combines the duties of eight separate tools into one stylish and handy device making it an essential addition to any home, restaurant, or hotel bar.

What is Bartule?

Designed solely for ease-of-use and efficiency, Bartule is an eight-in-one instrument created to give refined cocktailers the ability to relax and enjoy a beverage while at home or on the go. An ice bucket, wine cooler, bottle opener, cork screw, measuring cup, fruit squeezer, salt rimmer, and coaster, Bartule makes virtually all other tools obsolete.

From top to bottom, Bartule blends functionality and beauty and holds up superbly to any environment, from demanding commercial use to home parties and high-end hotel chains. The compact, interlocking design saves space, stays neat and clean, is self-organizing, easily stored, and is always party ready. High density polycarbonate make up the sleek ice bucket/bottle chiller, while the bottle opener and simple-design cork screw are made of durable stainless steel.

Constructed from 100 percent recycled matter, Bartule's easy-to-read 4 oz. jigger and citrus juicer with built-in handle and spout are both built from copolyester, which make Bartule the very first bar accessory to be made from BPA-free material.

Indestructible and dishwasher safe, Bartule's unique patent pending design is available in six fashionable colors – blue, clear, green, red, yellow, and smoke – allowing it to easily blend in with its surroundings. Bartule is a unique art-infused bar accessory that functions at a level much higher than the unoriginal, cluttered alternatives on the market today. Its elegance and beauty add to any environment, while its effectiveness and craftsmanship are simply unparalleled.

Satisfied client Jon Liebling of adplanet.net can attest to the Bartule's versatility and convenience.

“Thanks again for the Bartule! I love it! I use it regularly and often wonder how I got through life without it,” he writes. “As the owner of adplanet.net, and someone who frequently entertains in his home, I appreciate its uniqueness and utilitarian value. No home should be without one!”

Not only for individual and restaurant use, Bartule is an ingenious addition to luxury and high-end hotel chains. With Bartule, guests are instantly provided with everything they need from the ice bucket to the bottle opener. Because Bartule is a fully customizable wholesale and/or retail invention, hotels and other commercial venues can print or laser their individual logos and promotional information onto the product for re-sale.

About Bartule:

A fine furniture designer and builder by trade, Bartule creator Kit Clark came up with the concept of Bartule as a signature Bartule LLC product. As the wine and bar accessory trade is a rapidly expanding market, Clark and Bartule LLC plan to release a complete range of creative bar accessories with one-of-a-kind functions and designs.

The Bartule is the only bar accessory that provides consumers with an all-in-one party solution when throwing great social events.
